City, county officials consider benefits of combining services

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors met Wednesday with officials from Bay St. Louis and Waveland to discuss consolidation of recreation and other services.

Participating in the meeting were supervisors Ronald Cuevas, Robert Peterson, Lisa Cow-and, Wilmer Seymour and Mike Ladner, Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward A. Favre, council member Charles Scianna and Waveland alderman Barbara Rappold.

Cuevas said a primary concern is to determine if consolidation of several departments, including recreation, law enforcement dispatching and the court systems is practical and feasible.

While some officials pointed out that careful consideration and planning are needed if consolidation is to work, all agreed that the idea is good.

Scianna commented that consolidation doesn't usually save money in the long run. Cuevas agreed but countered that it does allow the cities and county to offer more services for the money being spent.

Favre said the consolidation of the city's tax collection processes with the county tax office has provided more efficient service and a bit of savings as well — about $8,000 since the consolidation went into effect.

Lombardos indicted

Fran Frierson Lombardo, 42, and her daughter, Mari Elizabeth Lombardo, 22, were indicted by the July grand jury for the 1985 murder of Frank Lombardo, 38, of Bay St. Louis.

Fran Lombardo, Lombardo's widow, also was indicted on one count of simple forgery and one count of uttering forgery.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson said copies of the indictments were served Monday on Jim Rose of Gulfport, the attorney for the two women, who accepted the indictments on their behalf.

The women had been jailed following their arrests in Orange County, Calif., from August of 1989 until last February, when they were released on bond from the Hancock County jail.

Firefighters found Lombardo's burned body Dec. 25, 1985, at his rented house, after a fire was reported there. The state medical examiner found bullet wounds in Lombardo's chest and head.

The two women had been bound over to the grand jury in December. Former Bay St. Louis Police Chief Ray Murphy urged that indictments be made in January, but District Attorney Cono Caranna asked for more time to investigate, claiming the case against the women continued to be circumstantial. Fran and Mari Lombardo collected $200,000 from a life insurance policy that had been taken out on Lombardo.

During a December hearing, testimonies given included statements that Fran Lombardo asked at least two different men to pose as her husband for an insurance physical and that she asked one witness to put her in touch with a hit man to kill her husband.

Her son Jason Lombardo testified at the December hearing that the women told him about his father's death and the fire hours before the fire was reported.

Whose road is it?

Supervisors, landowners disagree on ownership of county road

BY TRACI BONNEY

Wilton Burge, a resident of the area around Road #303, appeared before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday to request that a decision be made about maintaining the road.

The road's ownership has been a matter of dispute for some time, according to board attorney Gerald Gex. He said four affidavits from residents and former county supervisors disagree as to whether the road is public or private.

The supervisors say in their statements they maintained it as a public road for at least 10 years during their terms in office. The residents, on the other hand, claim there was no county maintenance done and the road remains private.

Burge asked that a determination of ownership be made if possible, so that the road could receive needed maintenance work.

After some discussion, the board agreed to hold the matter until its August 15 meeting to give Gex more time to secure another affidavit and research the matter further.

Lillie Bender, a census community awareness specialist, also addressed the board members to update them on local progress with the 1990 census.

She said the Biloxi area office will close soon, since operations in the area are nearly complete. Census workers have contacted all housing units in the county and have determined whether they are currently occupied, empty, residences or weekend houses.

Bender told the board that it should receive preliminary housing figures, and possibly some early population counts, sometime this month. However, final figures will not be released until early or mid-1991.

In a brief presentation, the board of supervisors honored the staff and officials at Hancock Medical Center with a resolution recognizing the hospital's work and acknowledging administrator Phillip Wolf's recent citation as hospital administrator of the year.

In addition, the board voted to re-advertise for bids for the sale of a surplus mortuary refrigerator. The refrigerator, according to members of the county sheriff's department, has not been utilized since local funeral homes began using them.

The board had received no bids on the item.

Residency policy affects all local school districts

Several local school districts, including Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Hancock County, Harrison and Pass Christian, have adopted a state-mandated residency verification policy for the 1990-91 school year for students wanting to attend school in those districts.

This means students seeking to enroll or continue to be enrolled in those districts will be required to register at the school they wish to attend. The district will then verify the residency of each student.

Definition of residence for school attendance is: "The student physically resides full time, weekdays/nights and weekends, at a place of abode located within the limits of the school district."

In succeeding years any new student enrolling or entering a school district or any continuing

Arson ruled in fire claiming man's life

BY TRACI BONNEY

An early morning fire Monday in Diamondhead that claimed the life of Allen Young may have been started by the victim, according to Hancock County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh.

Young, 34, died in a fire that started in his parents' house around 2 a.m., Marsh said.

The fire that destroyed the Bayou Drive house of John and Denise Young and killed Allen Young was the second that night.

The fire department had already answered a call from John and Denise Young, who had seen smoke coming from their house after they returned there late Sunday night. When firefighters arrived, they found John Young extinguishing a burning mattress and box spring with a garden hose.

Sometime after 2 a.m., a deputy sheriff was requested by a 911 emergency call to go to the same address. Marsh said, "When the deputy stopped at the fire department to ask someone to show him the house's location, the phone rang at the fire station with a call

Gill netters nabbed in Bay of St. Louis

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Conservation officers with Bureau of Marine Resources (BMR) arrested two persons early Monday morning and charged them with a total of 13 violations, including illegally setting a gill net in the Bay of St. Louis.

Arrested about 2 a.m. Monday were Charles Cowart, 53, Route 6, Box 623-K, Bay St. Louis, and his son, Edward Cowart, 31, of Kissimmee, Fla., a BMR news release reports. The conservation officers allegedly saw them hiding in a boat near a gill net set just east of Diamondhead Cut in the Bay of St. Louis.

The officers were patrolling the waters because of reports received of illegal netting in the area. Conservation officers Donnie Armes and Lamar Switzer were patrolling the area when the propeller of their boat got tangled in a gill net.

"We just followed the net to the end, and shined a light on them," Armes said. "That's when we saw them trying to duck down into their boat."

Both men were charged with illegally setting a gill net in closed waters, having an unattended net, an improperly buoyed net and possession of undersized redfish.

Charles Cowart was additionally charged with improper lighting of his boat, no flare kit, and not having a throwable flotation device on board.

Both men were released from jail, pending hearings in justice court. If convicted, Charles Cowart faces a maximum fine of $3,000. Edward Cowart, if convicted, faces total maximum

Lawsuit

Diamondhead Water, Sewer files for eminent domain

BY TRACI BONNEY

It may be a lawsuit, but it is reportedly a friendly one.

That's what parties on both sides are claiming as the Diamondhead Water and Sewer District prepares, if necessary, to follow through with a petition of eminent domain lawsuit against Diamondhead Utilities Co. filed with the county circuit clerk's office last week.

Neither Stephen Guice, attorney for the district, nor utility company general manager Peter Casano expects the lawsuit to go to court, although Casano said Tuesday, "To be quite honest, I'm surprised they filed a suit. I was in Jackson with their attorney Monday, and it wasn't mentioned."

He added he thought the suit may be an attempt to interfere with his request to the state Public Service Commission for approval of a rate increase.

Guice said the filing of the suit is connected with, but was not triggered by, the possible rate increase.

A rate hike would increase the value of the system when an appraisal is made, he said. "Also, the district is concerned with making sure the rate payers get a reasonable rate for water service."

The district had offered to buy the water system after purchasing the sewer system from the utility company, but "negotiations ceased when the district refused to go forward with an appraisal," Casano said.

Father Kelley appointed to third term as rector

Very Rev. William J. Kelley, SVD, was recently appointed to a third term as rector of St. Augustine's Seminary by the Superior General and Council of the Divine Word Missionaries, Rome. The term will last until June, 1993.

Father Kelley came to St. Augustine's as a seminarian in 1963 and was ordained on January 6, 1967 by Archbishop Philip M. Hannan, retired archbishop of New Orleans.

Over the years he has served in different positions in the Southern Province of the Divine Word Missionaries: vocation director, public relations director, province treasurer, editor and rector.

From September 1984 to June 1985 he assisted at Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, New Orleans, before assuming his present duties.

St. Augustine Seminary is composed of a Novitiate program, a retirement home and a retreat center on its campus.

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

Nothing is so strong as gentleness; nothing is so gentle as real strength.

—St. Francis de Sales
Every sunrise is a new message from God, and every sunset is His signature.

—William Arthur Ward
The greatest service we can perform for others is to help them to help themselves.

—Horace Mann

Choir practice is from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. today at St. Ann Church.

According to St. Ann-St. John Adult CYO advisor Pam LaFontaine, our group recently enjoyed a CYO beach bash party in Pass Christian with other CYO groups from along the Coast.

Their busy summer schedule also included a trip to Water Wonderland in Gautier Wednesday, Aug. 1.

Following their next meeting

Wednesday, Aug. 8, the group will take off for a pizza treat.

St. Ann-St. John Altar Society members will attend the 5 p.m. Vigil Mass in a body this Saturday, Aug. 4 at St. Ann Church.

The annual meatball and spaghetti dinner is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 1 in the parish hall starting 11 a.m. until.

Chairman Shirley Williams announced tickets will be on sale for $3.50 per person and may be purchased from her or any of the Altar Society members. Desserts and drinks will be available.

Everyone is welcome to help, men as well as ladies. Let's get together and make this the biggest one ever.

St. Mark AME Church marks anniversary with musical

The pastor, officers and members of St. Mark AME Church, Duford Road in Waveland, invite the public to enjoy fellowship with their congregation on the pastor's ninth anniversary. A pre-musical will be at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 3 and Aug. 4 and 11:30 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 5. Speaker will be Elder Gilbert Gillum, pastor of Dunbar Church of God in Christ of Waco, Texas, son of the late Gilbert Gillum of Kiln and Rev. Ruby Shumake, pastor of St. Mark AME Church.

Flag etiquette should be carefully observed

Honoring the United States flag is one of the three objectives of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

When the society was organized it named three objectives: 1) Historic Preservation, 2) Promotion of Education, and 3) Patriotic Endeavor.

The DAR members are justifiably proud of their record of obtaining these objectives. There is still much to be accomplished, particularly in the field of honoring the flag.

Our flag, "Old Glory" or "Star Spangled Banner," is recognized throughout the world. The flag is flown by patriotic Americans. The manner in which the flag is flown gives a message. It is heart-warming to know that men and women have died to protect their national flag.

Every citizen should be taught how to honor the flag, how to read its message, how to care for it, how to dispose of it when it is no longer serviceable.

The flag code is studied by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and by veterans organizations. Those wishing to review the flag code may find it in encyclopedias, history books and in most public libraries.

There has been some confusion about the message the flag gives when flown at half-mast. For the half-mast ceremony the flag should be hoisted to the peak before lowering it to half-mast. This is a symbol of mourning.

It should be raised to the peak again before lowering it at the end of day. The flag at half-mast is a symbol of mourning or of distress. By tradition, the national flag flies at half-mast only when the entire country mourns.

The national banner should be carefully kept clean and in good condition. It may be washed, dry-cleaned and mended.

The Friendship Oak Chapter NSDAR has on order some flag code pamphlets and will encourage our citizens to fly their flags and refer to the flag code when uncertain about some display rules.

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

For your consideration: a few odd thoughts

I sometimes have odd thoughts about things -- although those who know me may say I don't have odd thoughts.

You probably have a few of these thoughts, too -- you know, questions and observations about things you see and hear every day.

So, submitted for your consideration (to quote my pastor, who's quoting someone else when he says that) are a few of my odd thoughts.

—Why do seagulls always face the same direction when they're standing on the beach or perched on a pier? If you think I'm imagining things, pay attention to the birds' positions next time you see a flock of them gathered.

The first time I noticed this phenomenon, about 150 of them were facing east and one lone bird was facing the flock. It was like some sort of seagull convention. I wondered if they were plotting how to best take advantage of picnicking tourists on the beach.

—Why did John Bartlett title his book Familiar Quotations?

If they're so familiar, why do you need a reference book on them?

Beside that, who told him -- or whoever updates the editions -- that these quotes were familiar? For instance, how many of you know the origin of this one (no fair looking in your copy): "I wasna fou, but just had plenty."

Oh, yea, that's a familiar one, all right! Unless you're a Robert Burns fan, you probably looked at that and wondered if I even typed it correctly.

That quote, as I just said, is from Robert Burns, from his work Death and Dr. Hornbook, to be more exact.

Sure, Death and Dr. Hornbook is familiar. In fact, I just finished reading it. (Please don't tell me you believe that! I'd never even heard of the thing.)

I repeat, why did Bartlett name this book Familiar Quotations?

—While we're on the subject of book titles, why is Roget's reference work on synonyms called a Thesaurus of English?

Words and Phrases when it contains words and phrases from Latin, French, Spanish and other foreign languages?

—Why do otherwise intelligent adults turn into babbling idiots when they encounter a baby or a small animal?

I'm serious! The next time someone walks with a baby or a pet into a crowd of people, watch how the people start to act.

I have observed this happen time after time: the adult takes the baby or puppy or kitten into his or her arms, then his face assumes some sort of weird expression which the adult obviously believes will amuse the child or animal. Strange sounds then issue from the adult's mouth as the adult attempts to relate to the little one.

What do these adults think they're doing? No child will ever understand the meaning -- if there is one -- to "A boo-boo-boo," and pets certainly can't comprehend this sort of behavior.

Yet even an adult who is aware of all this will still put on a clownish face and mercilessly garble the English language when he comes into contact with something that is smaller than he and can't speak. (I'm just as guilty of this on occasion as anyone else, so please don't think I'm trying to be high-and-mighty.)

—Why is it that when a toddler does something by accident it's cute, but when someone "who should know better" does the same thing, it's considered atrocious, stupid or malicious?

For instance, when a neighbor's child once dumped my cactus on herself and stood in my room with a yellow bowl on her head and dirt cascading down her body, it was cute. But had one of my brothers, who were older and presumably wiser than the three-year-old girl, done the same thing, whoever did it would have been chastised and asked why he did something so stupid.

Think about it: the result would be the same, no matter who did it. My cactus would be dead, there would be dirt all over the floor, and someone would be badly in need of a bath.

Guice said the district did not "refuse" to have an appraisal made, rather, the district's money was focused elsewhere.

"The only 'hold-up' with the appraisal is that the district has put forth all its effort to secure a loan for the wastewater treatment plant," Guice commented.

He said an appraisal is expected to be completed in 15 to 30 days. When it is complete, a copy will be given to Casano. Casano said Tuesday he was not at odds with the district's commissioners. "When they get the system appraised, maybe negotiations will get back on track," he remarked.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

One of the things I have noticed quite frequently during recent weeks are the low shoulders on many of our heavily traveled roads and highways.

I wish to make particular reference to Longfellow Road, where in some areas the drop appears to be six inches or more. Of course, ever dangerous Highway 603 has some extremely bad sections also, along with several other of our roads in the area.

One has to be careful not to drop off on these shoulders because it can cause a driver to instantly lose control of a vehicle and cause an accident.

It is hoped that our county and state officials will take the necessary actions to remedy these potentially dangerous road conditions.

It appears that Lower Bay Road continues to "bleed" and this is nothing new.

Several months ago, I received a telephone call about the road's condition and went out and took photos of the problem. I thought by now something would have been done to completely correct the condition.

I know Supervisor Robert Peterson was concerned and wanted the problem solved.

It seems something must have gone wrong with the materials used, as the process used on Lower Bay Road is a common one.

Something must be done to cure the problem once and for all, and putting sand on the road seems to only be a temporary solution.

I feel for those who have to drive this road, as the heavy tar can make the curvy road even more hazardous.

I know, first hand, that it is also a problem to remove the tar from one's vehicle, especially if it is a white one, as I had to remove some from my car the last time I went out and took photos of the running tar.

It will be interesting to see just how long it will take to have the problem solved.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Impose penalties on users and dealers alike

"Dear Congressman Taylor," the letter said. "I am very concerned about the drug problem. I think there should be longer jail terms for drug dealers. There should also be a jail term and rehabilitation for drug users."

The author, from Gulfport, is exactly right.

For the last several years, the state of Mississippi has passed tough laws dealing with those people who sell drugs. But as a nation, we've fallen short of imposing strict sentences for those who use them.

Last week, however, the House of Representatives sent a tough message to dealers and users alike: If you are going to involve yourself with illegal drugs, we are going to take away two of your privileges as citizens.

In a amendment to the U.S. Highway Transportation Appropriations bill, the House voted to reduce by millions of dollars the highway funds of the state that fails to pass a law imposing for 180 days the driving licenses of those people convicted of possessing or using drugs.

Congress also passed an amendment to the Education

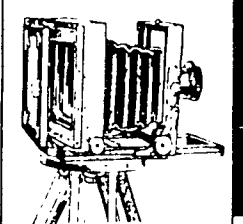

Appropriations Bill that will suspend student loans for a year for those people convicted of abusing drugs or having them in their possession.

These measures alone will not solve the drug problem. I support provisions that lengthen the prison terms of drug offenders and keep them in jail full term. But the point is, when we impose penalties, we have to impose them on users and dealers alike.

Homeport Update: The Seapower Subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee of the House also voted last week to authorize funding for the Pascagoula homeport.

The committee, of which I am a member, voted 10-4 against legislation that would have halted construction on this vital project.

The subcommittee action must now receive approval from the full Armed Services Committee and the full House. It is likely that the people who opposed authorizing the funding for the project will probably oppose it again in the future. But I'm confident that we will be able to convince Congress of the important need for the expenditures.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Local movie filming boosted our economy

Dear Editor,

I read with interest Rubie Chapman's letter complaining of the evils associated with the movie "The Brotherhood."

Mrs. Chapman stated these evils include dope addiction, sexual promiscuity, satanic cults, and reprobate lifestyles.

From what I have heard about the film, it is not glorifying these evils in the least. It's your basic good-versus-evil plot, and good triumphs in the end-type movie.

I don't see where that is setting a bad example for children. Real life is good versus evil, and hopefully good triumphs in the end.

I'm sorry Mrs. Chapman was inconvenienced when she went to get her car repaired near where they were filming. I'm glad they filmed here. That's a few more dollars in our local economy.

Also, Father Cuddy and the entire staff at Our Lady of the Gulf should be commended and not criticized for the hospitality they extended to the people involved in the filming of the movie.

Rita Blaize-Watson
Bay St. Louis

Biker responds to criticism of movie

Dear Editor,

I have never written a letter to the newspaper before, but a letter from Rubie Chapman of Waveland has my dander up, and I would like to add my two cents' worth.

First of all, the inconvenience of Mrs. Chapman not being able to have her car checked by one of our local businesses is a very small price to pay, considering the thousands of dollars of revenue that the movie "The Brotherhood" has generated for a county that is desperate for an economic boost.

I, for one, would like to thank the local law enforcement, church officials, mayor, business people and citizens for the courage, patience and cooperation it took to bring an endeavor, such as this movie, to Bay St. Louis.

These people are to be commended for putting their personal beliefs aside and thinking of the overall boost in economy and well-being of our community.

As for 10- and 12-year-old children being able to view this film in movie theaters, I think this would be highly unlikely, since "The Brotherhood" is rated "R," which means no one under 17 years of age is admitted.

However, when the movie is released to home video, our local video stores have the right to rent this film to whomever they choose, one of the constitutional rights the Eastern Europeans have been fighting years for.

Finally, the letter suggests that anyone connected with the movie endorses "satanic overtones, violence, drugs, sexual promiscuity and reprobate lifestyles." Conversely, the producer, director, cast and crew are some of the finest and most well-respected people in the film industry.

As for the 300 or so bikers who were used as extras, (my wife and I among them) 95 percent of these people have participated in such reprobate fundraisers as muscular dystrophy, Easter Seals, Toys for Tots and multiple sclerosis.

As a matter of fact, it was discovered while filming this movie, one of our fellow bikers has a child with cancer, and as a result we were able to pass the hat and raise several hundred dollars for an innocent child in desperate need of help. If that, Ms. Chapman, is your idea of apathy, then we don't care what you think.

Yours Truly,
George Polk

Misinformed call to '911' brings unpleasant results

To the Editor

I recently had occasion to use the "911" emergency telephone service and feel compelled to share my experience with the general public.

The presumption that "911" places into motion emergency units is a myth. The call was received by the Waveland Police Department, which in turn dispatched a police officer to the address.

Upon his arrival, I inquired if the medics or rescue unit were responding, and his reply was he "needed some information." Before I realized what was taking place, I found myself being physically assaulted by this officer, at which time I demanded that he vacate the premises.

The above described situation occurred on July 15 at approximately 7:45 a.m. The experience which my family and I was subjected to was untimely and unjustified.

This unforgettable occurrence is not intended to alarm, but rather inform the public of the consequences which may result from incompetent "911" response.

Hospitality Day at Welcome Center brings visitors to Bay

To the Editor

Hospitality Day, July 21, was a big success for those of us who have businesses in Bay St. Louis.

The one-to-one contact by volunteers to tourists at the Hancock County Welcome Center brought many new customers and visitors to our town.

I heard throughout the day, "We always just crossed the bridge and kept going, never knowing Bay St. Louis existed or never realizing the town was as quaint and beautiful. The people are so warm and friendly. We will be back and will tell our friends."

The following volunteers took the time to "advertise" our beautiful community: Mike Cuevas, Charles Gray, Patt Cucullu, Alice Mosely, Dottie Overall, Janet Aime and Hazel Brelard.

Sincerely,
Edward V. Jurkowski

Hospitality Day hosted for Bay St. Louis

Special to the Echo
Volunteers spread the good news to more than 2,000 visitors to the Hancock County Welcome Center about the charm and hospitality of Bay St. Louis on July 21.

Alice Mosely, renowned primitive artist who has recently made her home in Bay St. Louis, was special guest for Hospitality Day. Mosley's works, along with those of local artists Barbara Brodman, Zita Waller, Ruth Thompson, Kris Schaumburg and Nadine Stamm were featured.

Hospitality Day, organized by the City of Bay St. Louis, was the first of a series of events planned to encourage travelers to leave I-10 and travel the scenic route of the Gulf Coast.

Early results showed a marked increase in downtown business as a result of the special efforts.

"It is our goal to tell as many visitors as possible about everything they would miss if Bay St. Louis were bypassed. Our business community has worked tirelessly to improve the quality of their merchandise and services and this administration will do everything it can to help in their promotion," stated Mayor Edward Favre.

Hancock County Historical Society members Charles Gray and May K. Raines, along with Dottie Overall, Hazel Breland, artists Alice Mosley, Zita Waller and city employees Janet Aime and Mike Cuevas participated as official greeters.

CAPT. WILLIAM RAINES

Raines retires from Navy

Captain William A. Raines, USN, Chief of Staff for the Commander, Naval Oceanography Command at the Stennis Space Center, will retire Friday, Aug. 3 after 31 years of active duty service.

A formal ceremony will be held 10:30 a.m. outside the Command's headquarters. Rear Admiral James E. Koehr, Commander, Naval Oceanography Command, will be featured speaker.

Raines, a native of Wilmington, N.C., is a 1959 graduate of North Carolina State University with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. He began his naval career after commissioning at Officer Candidate School, Newport, R.I., in November, 1959. He later earned a master of science degree in oceanography from the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif. in 1967.

Raines assumed the duties of Deputy Commander, Naval Oceanography Command in June 1986 and was redesignated as Chief of Staff in July 1988.

A designated Naval Submarine and Surface Warfare Officer, Raines' other decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal, Navy Commendation Medal (with two gold stars), the Navy Expeditionary Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal

(with bronze star), Republic of Vietnam Meritorious Unit Citation and Marksman Pistol Award.

He is the son of Melwood P. and May K. Raines of Wilmington, N.C. He is married to the former Rose Simmons of Newport, N.C. They have two sons, Danny, a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force, and Mark. Previously residing in Long Beach, Captain and Mrs. Raines will make their home in Orange Park, Fla.

Vivaldi, Beethoven, MacDowell featured on 'Concert Hall'

Works by Vivaldi, Beethoven and MacDowell are featured on the next edition of PRM's "Mississippi Concert Hall," Thursday, Aug. 2 at 10 a.m., with a rebroadcast Sunday, Aug. 5 at 1 p.m.

Guitarist Mario Abril and the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra perform Concerto for Lute by Antonio Vivaldi.

Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 in B flat, opus 60, is performed by the Mississippi Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Colman Pearce.

ON PATROL

POSSESSION OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE

Glen Strong of the Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force reported the arrests of Shane C. Kowalski, 20, of 312 State St., Bay St. Louis, Koreen L. Matthews, 21, of Victoria St. in Bay St. Louis, and Allison M. McArthur, 19, of 154 Oak Park Apts., Waveland on charges of possession of a controlled substance.

Strong said they were arrested around 11 p.m. Sunday on Waveland Ave. after Waveland Police Department officers Phillip Pavolini and Rene Normand stopped the vehicle for a traffic violation.

All three are out of jail on a bond of $5,000 each.

POSSESSION WITH INTENT TO DISTRIBUTE

Glen Strong, director of the Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force, reported the arrests of two New Orleans men on charges of possession of a controlled substance (crack cocaine) with intent to distribute.

Strong said Bay St. Louis Police Officer Shane Corr made the arrests about 1:30 a.m. Monday of Lloyd J. Robinson, 22, and Renoir R. Red, 21, at the corner Washington and St. Francis streets.

Both are currently incarcerated in the Hancock County jail under bonds of $15,000 each.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katie McGuire Caire

"Salad soups" tempt the palate when the temperature soars and the appetite plummets. They're easy-on-the-cook lishes, and for the menu needs only cold meats and hot breads to make a tasty combination.

One of the finest of the cold soups is Spain's Gazpacho, a frosty salad-soup or soup-salad, depending upon how you put it together, a melange of fresh-from-the-garden vegetables which ranks high in gourmet cuisine.

But, as fashionable as gazpacho is today, its origins are quite humble. It is said that gazpacho originated as the mainstay of peasants working in the fields of Spain under the blazing summer sun.

The womenfolk used to carry the cold soup in jugs to their men as they toiled in the fields, and olive groves to sustain them through the long, hot days.

Of course, there is no "one" way to make gazpacho; there are many, many variations; and debates grow quite heated over the proper method. Some like the vegetables smoothed down to thick puree; others prefer finely-diced vegetables. Still others such as I, like the vegetables even chunkier.

There are long ways to make gazpacho and short ways to make it, and even an all-but-instant way for those who truly hate to cook!

Here's one of my favorite ways for making:

GAZPACHO

(For extra flavor, start the day before by rubbing a glass bowl with a clove of garlic; discard the garlic, cover the bowl to protect the flavors of other food in the fridge while you cool the bowl overnight. This gives a subtle—if garlic can be subtle—flavoring to the gazpacho.)

Early next day, peel, seed and chop six large ripe tomatoes and two cucumbers. Add a half cup chopped onion and a half cup chopped bell (green) pepper. Pour over the chopped vegetables a mixture of a third of a cup of olive oil and three tablespoons of lemon juice, with dashes of pepper and salt to your taste, along with the merest mite of hot pepper sauce.

Chill several hours in the fridge in your chilled garlic-seasoned bowl. Just before serving, add two cups of chilled tomato juice. Serve in chilled soup bowl (crystal or glass bowls are nice for this) with an ice cube in each bowl and chopped parsley sprinkled atop. Garnish with croutons, if desired. (Six servings)

For easy Blender Gazpacho, combine a half cup of chopped onion and the same of green pepper and cucumber, along with a minced garlic clove, two cups of water, a can of condensed tomato soup, three tablespoons of red wine vinegar, a fourth cup of olive oil and a dash of pepper, in your blender. Puree until the velvety consistency you wish, and chill for two hours or so.

And, if even that's too much trouble for you these sultry summer days, here's All-But-Instant Gazpacho: Combine in a bowl two cups of tomato juice with a tablespoon each of olive oil and red wine vinegar, along with a fourth cup of instant or frozen chopped bell pepper and the same amount of instant chopped onion and a dash of Worcestershire sauce and hot pepper sauce. Mix well and refrigerate until serving time.

BACK TO NATURE

By Lydia Schultz

Immature bird species far less beautiful than their elders

Special to the Echo
By LYDIA SCHULTZ

The yard is alive with birds as usual, but this time of the year it is different. Some are so unsightly, the only thing beautiful about them is the image in my mind of what they will look like when God is finished with them.

This year I don't see the prevalence of "post juvenile molting" in the Blue Jays, but some years you'll see immature Blue Jays with little or no feathers around their necks or on their heads. It is not a sight for sore eyes and about as pitiful as a bird can get.

The first time I became aware of post juvenile molt was when we had a Jay from rehabilitation released in our yard. It came to us several times a day for its food. I thought we had harmed it with unenriching food until we saw a battalion of Jays flying around in the same miserable state.

Someone called this week with a very rare bird at their feeders. The next day she came in with a picture of the rarity. We laughed together. It was the ugliest molting Cardinal I'd ever seen. Actually there was a pair in the same condition.

Juvenile Rufous-sided Towhees fall under "non-descript." I can't say they are ugly, but they haven't exactly reached pretty yet. In fact, unless you are familiar with their actions, they are difficult to identify.

The clue is the fact that they are on the ground feeding, jumping forward and scratching backwards—acting like the adults that are in full plumage.

When birds molt, they do so symmetrically. That means that if a feather is dropped on the right side, it is also dropped on the left side. That makes sense, aeronautically speaking, right?

It wouldn't be easy to fly off-balanced. I've often wondered if that accounts for so many tailless birds this time of year.

Now other immatures are harder to determine. You may know by now that immature Cardinals look like adults but have a black bill and a motley appearance. But immature Brown Thrashers are determined by the color of their eyes. The adults' eyes are yellow and the immature's is black.

Woodpeckers are some of the funniest. Gangly kids learning coordination. Their heads appear to be smaller. The absence of red on a bird acting "woodpeckerish" is the dead give-away that it's an immature.

They always come to my peanut butter feeder that has been generously stocked for years. Woodpeckers were the reason I started mixing peanut butter and yellow corn meal so I guess it's really theirs.

The Red-bellied Woodpecker rather controls it and I'm sure there are several families of just that one species using it. But the Red-headed Woodpeckers appear often.

The young start showing up in July. With each visit the immatures will stay on it for lengthy times. I also keep apples in it and this time of year they go through one small apple a day plus all the peanut butter I can put out.

Speaking of Woodpeckers, I must tell you that a rarity has occurred. A Pileated Woodpecker has discovered my bird bath and has visited it several times today.

This does not happen often and is the only good thing about this dry weather—birds at the bird baths.

Immature hummingbirds are difficult to identify. For one thing, they don't stay still, and the other thing is that they look like adults. An immature male can have a very (VERY few) red feathers on its throat, but the immature female must be in the hands of an expert in order to determine its age.

Our gorgeous bluebird, when first fledging the nest, is not gorgeous. Anything but! It takes several months and sometimes into the next spring before they get their breeding plumage complete for the attraction of the opposite sex and reproduction of their species.

So each species is different. In shore birds, it can take as much as four or five years before the bird reaches mature plumage and breeding. In pelagic birds (birds that stay in flight over open seas), it can take even longer.

It is interesting, to say the least, and exciting to watch the changes. It is comforting to know some changes never change. (Got that?) We can actually count on them.

And we know that each bird will be fantastically beautiful when it is time and when God IS finished with it.

Residency

as an address will not be accepted:

1. Filed Homestead Exemption Application form
2. Mortgage documents or property deeds
3. Apartment or home lease
4. Utility bills
5. Driver's license
6. Voter precinct identification
7. Automobile registration
8. Affidavit and/or personal visit by a designated school district official
9. Any other documentation that will objectively and unequivocally establish that the parent or legal guardian resides within the school district and, in the case of a student living with a legal guardian who is a bona fide resident of the school district.
10. Certified copy of filed petition for guardianship if pending and final decree when granted.

Students Living With Adults other than Parents or Legal Guardians

The non-parent claiming district residency must meet the criteria required of a parent or legal guardian.

The school district resident must provide the school with an affidavit stating his or her relationship to the student, and that the student will be living at his/her address full time, and provide documentation fully explaining the reason(s) (other than school attendance zone or district preference) for this arrangement.

The local school board or its designee will make the necessary factual determinations. Examples of situations where "in loco parentis" authority of an adult should be recognized to establish residency of the minor include, but are not limited to the following:

- a. Death or serious illness of the child's parent(s) or guardian(s).
- b. Abandonment of the child.
- c. Child abuse or neglect.
- d. Unstable family relationships or undesirable conditions in the home of the child's parents or guardians having a detrimental effect on the child.
- e. Child is homeless as defined by the Stewart B. McKinney Act.

f. Students enrolled in recognized exchange programs residing with host families.

Whenever appropriate the person who has assumed responsibility for the care and custody of the child shall be encouraged to obtain legal guardianship of the child.

The provisions of this policy do not apply to students who reside outside the school district, but who have legally transferred into the school district.

Student Transfers

Section 37-15-29, Mississippi Code, as amended, regarding student transfers who reside in other school districts states that no child may enroll in any school except in the school district of his residence, unless such child shall be lawfully transferred from the school district of his residence to another school district in accordance with the statutes of this state.

However, those children whose parents are instructional personnel of a school district student whose residence has changed will be required to verify his or her residence address as herein provided as a part of the registration process.

In succeeding years, the parents or legal guardians of continuing students whose residence has not changed shall sign a Declaration of Residency Form.

Each student must establish his or her residency in the following manner:

Students Living With Parents or Guardians

The parent or legal guardian of a student seeking to enroll must provide the school district with a least two of the items listed below as verification of their address, except that any document with a post office box may enroll regardless of the residence of the child, upon a request in writing of the instructional employee.

Section 31-5-31 provides that the parent shall request a release from the school district in which the pupil has been enrolled or resides, to be legally transferred to a school district of their choice.

The school board of the school district in which the child wishes to attend shall also consent to said transfer and both school districts shall spread upon their minutes the release and acceptance of said students.

No legal guardianship can be formed for the purpose of establishing residency for school district attendance purposes or shall be received by the affected board.

Children's theatre to present two plays

"It's Bigfoot!" and "The Tea Service" will be presented by the participants of Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's Summer Workshop on Friday, Aug. 2 and Sat., Aug. 4 at 8 p.m.

"It's Bigfoot!" is a comedy written by Tim Kelly and involves the "sighting" of Bigfoot at Big Moose Lodge and Canoe Rental.

"The Tea Service" was written by the participants of the workshop and is a sentimental "dram-eddy" (their word for drama with comedy tossed in).

Both plays will be presented each evening. Admission at the door is $3 adults, $1.50 children under 12.

Screendoor Graphics joins international association

Screendoor Graphics, Bay St. Louis, has been elected to membership in the Screen Printing Association International, according to its president, John M. Crawford.

Candace Strahan and her husband Jim founded Screendoor Graphics in 1989. The company specializes in custom textile screen printing and graphic design.

Candace studied art for several years at Newcomb College and received a bachelor of arts in fine arts from The University of New Orleans. Screendoor Graphics is a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and of the Bay St. Louis Business Association where Ms. Strahan is secretary-treasurer.

The Screen Printing Association International is the international organization serving the screen printing industry with member plants in 84 nations. The organization's prime objective is to promote recognition of the screen printing industry and provide its members with a wide variety of technical, managerial and educational information and services.

that the house was on fire.

When the fire department truck arrived, the house was in flames. After suppressing the fire, Marsh and the firefighters began an investigation and found Allen Young's body in the corner of a back room near a door.

Young's parents were not at home at the time of the fire, Marsh said.

Deputy State Fire Marshal David Dry assisted Marsh in the investigation Wednesday. It was determined that the blaze was deliberately set, according to Marsh, who said it originated in the garage area.

The investigation is continuing.

Mestayer, Kane, Uram are winners in Optimist North American race

BY LIZ HAAS

Three Bay-Waveland Yacht Club junior members finished in the top half in the Optimist North American Championship in Kingston, Canada.

Mallory Mestayer, 14, a sophomore at Our Lady Academy, won third place overall, while 12-year-old Sanders Kane finished seventh in a field of 56 competitors from across the United States, Canada and Mexico. Alan Uram, 11, placed twenty-second overall.

From July 25 to July 28, sailors raced for the North American Championship title under three fleets according to age—white, blue and red.

Mestayer placed second in the red fleet, while Kane placed seventh and Uram, tenth, in the blue fleet.

All three BWYC sailors had sailed in the North American Championship before.

The top half of the races' winners were all from the United States, with the exception of three Canadian sailors.

Three sailors from Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans placed in the top half.

Brian Wynne, 11, placed sixth in the blue fleet and second overall. Willem Young, 10, placed first in the white fleet and fourth overall. Brett Wynne, 11, placed thirteenth in the blue fleet and twenty-fifth overall.

"It was different sailing in Canada because the water was choppy and they have more winds. We didn't have to wash our boats off after every race because we were sailing in fresh water," said Sanders.

Prior to the Optimist North American Championship, the sailors competed in the 1990

Provincials Optimist Championship hosted by the Nepean Sailing Club in Nepean, Ontario, on July 21 and 22.

Mestayer ranked fourth in the red fleet and won fifth overall, being the top female to place.

Uram ranked third in the blue fleet and placed eleventh overall. Kane ranked fifth in the blue fleet and won twelfth place overall.

The top 14 sailors were all from the U.S.

Mestayer ranked in the top five in the 1990 Optimist World Championship tryouts in Clearwater Beach, Florida, earlier this year and is presently in Portugal competing against optimist sailors from all over the world.

Hunter safety courses slated

A hunter safety course is slated for the following dates in Bay St. Louis:

August 8, 10 and 15; September 19, 20 and 26; and October 17 and 24.

Classes will begin at 6 p.m. in the Mississippi Power Company building, which is located on Highway 90 next to the Bay St. Louis library.

For additional information, call Antoine Boyd at 467-5108 or Andy Elchos at 466-4556.

Bay 11-12's eliminated

The Bay St. Louis Little League 11-12-year old All-Star team was eliminated in the state playoffs after losing to Stone County on Monday night and D'Iberville, 10-6, Tuesday night.

Three men remained on base against D'Iberville when the last out was made.

The Bay St. Louis team was coached by Tim Bourgeois and Mark Tomasich.

Bay Area Youth Soccer slates tryouts

The Bay Area Youth Soccer Club has announced plans to field select soccer teams in the U-12, U-14 and U-16 age groups for the 1990-91 season, according to Ronnie LaFontaine, BAYS president.

This will be the first time in BAYS' history that the club will offer a select soccer program in three separate age divisions.

Tom Demboski will coach the U-12 team, Tim Kingston will coach the U-14 team, and Jerry Ross will coach the U-16 team.

Tryouts for all three teams are this week on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 5 p.m. and on Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Seminary Field.

Those interested in more information should call Tom Demboski at 467-4773, Tim Kingston at 467-9813 or Jerry Ross at 467-9454.

Lott to compete in Quarter Horse World Championship Show

American Quarter Horse enthusiast Heather Lott of Bay St. Louis will compete at the 19th annual American Quarter Horse Association World Championship Show and Convention in Tulsa, Okla. Aug. 5-11.

Lott will be among 1,400 youths, ages 19 and under from the United States, Canada, Mexico and West Germany participating in the show. She will compete with her American Quarter Horse Lady Strathcona, a five-year-old Bay Mare, in working hunter jumping and hunter hack and with Ebony Winsalot, a 10-year-old Black Mare, in showmanship, horsemanship, western pleasure, trail, hunter under saddle and hunt seat equitation.

She represents Mississippi in all of the above classes and has been elected as one of the four state delegates to the AQHA National Convention.

Lott is coached and her horses are trained by her father, Morris Lott of Diamondhead Stables.

The AQHA World Championship Show is an invitational event that serves as a showcase for top American Quarter Horse exhibitors, so competition promises to be intense and exciting. Young competitors, vying for 28 AQHA World Championships and prizes, must earn a predetermined number of points at American Quarter Horse Association-approved horse shows between May 1, 1989 and April 30, 1990, or be one of two entries in each event nominated to represent each state's junior Quarter Horse association.

Highlights of the show will air on the August episode of "America's Horse," AQHA's monthly television special on the cable sports network ESPN.

Air dates are set for Saturday, Aug. 25 at 10 p.m. Pacific and Thursday, Aug. 20 at 10 a.m. Eastern. Viewers should check their local listings for broadcast dates and times in their area.

The World Show is the featured activity of the week, but other scheduled events include

Local karate student goes to national tourney

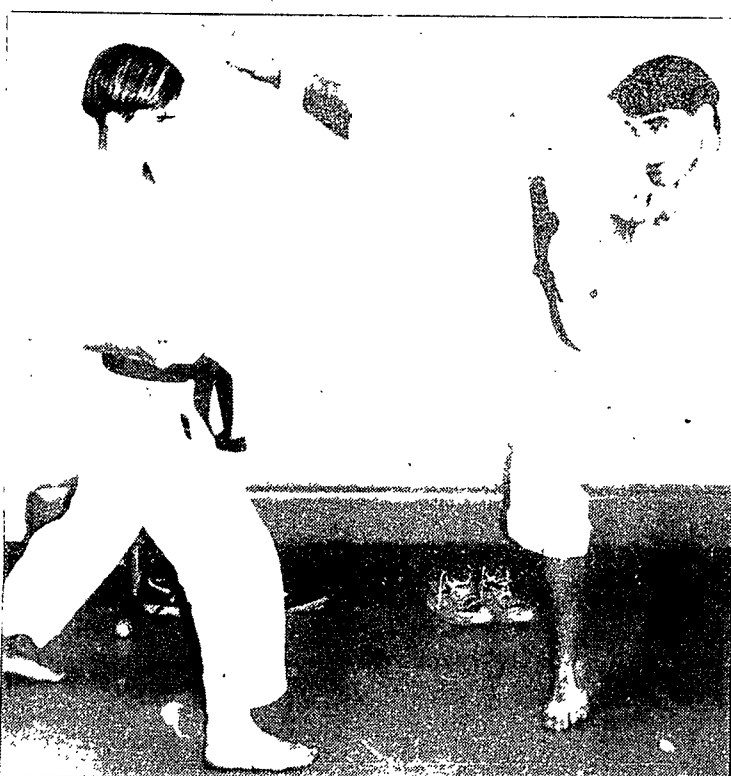

Lee Murphree of Waveland has kicked, blocked and topped his way to Akron, Ohio.

Murphree, a member of the Shotokan Tigers Karate Club, has earned a chance to compete in a national karate tournament being held in Akron this weekend. He captured the spot in the tourney by winning top honors in three competitions during the past three months.

His instructor, Hugh Finlason, said Murphree won first and second place spots in sparring and form at the All-South, Mississippi and Miami, Fla., regional tournaments.

The Bay High School freshman is at the intermediate level in his training. Finlason said Murphree will become national champion if he wins the Akron tournament.

Junior Eagle Club formed at Southern

In an effort to provide an avenue of support for all Golden Eagle fans, athletic director Bill McCallan and 1990 Eagle Club president Bob Mixon announce the formation of the University of Southern Mississippi Junior Eagle Club.

This new organization is open to youth members age 13 through 15. Yearly dues are $10 and will entitle the member to an exciting array of benefits.

Each member will receive a Junior Eagle Club T-shirt and a membership card and certificate. Each club member also will be invited to attend a selected USM football, basketball, women's basketball and baseball practice and will be guests of various USM coaches at special clinics that will be scheduled during the athletic year.

Five sailors from each competing country are racing in the 1990 Optimist World Championship.

The team will be leaving on August 11 to race in the National Optimist Championship in Detroit, Michigan.

The two boys, who are cousins, plan to compete in the North American Championship next year and hope to race in the World's. Mestayer, who will turn 15 this year, will no longer be eligible to race in Optimist competition.

Angels finish season with 15 wins

Angels T-Ball team posted a record of 15-1, including their regular season and tournaments entered.

The Angels finished regular season play at 9-1, putting them in first place. They also entered two tournaments which were held at St. Clare and St. Rose, placing first in both tournaments.

"We had a good group of kids this year who were very dedicated. The kids from last year had improved immensely, and the parents being as dedicated as their kids enabled us to have a successful season," stated Coach Mark Breland. Other coaches were Dwayne Almond, Clark Breland and David Strong.

day, Aug. 5, which allows state delegates to conduct AJQHA business and elect six national officers to represent the more than 14,000 members of AJQHA, the world's largest youth horse organization.

Also included are the AJQHA Speech Contest on Tuesday, Aug. 7, featuring the presentation of two $500 scholarships and the AJQHA World Championship Judging Contest for AJQHA, 4-H and National FFA Organization members on Wednesday, Aug. 8.

Show week also offers a variety of social activities and an Exposition and Trade Show featuring numerous equine-related products and services. AQHA will have a booth at the Exposition, where individuals may request performance and race records on registered American Quarter Horses.

Heather is the 14-year-old daughter of Morris and Maria Lott of Bay St. Louis and is a freshman at Our Lady Academy.

'90 Wildcats looking to pick up from where '89 Cats left off

The 1989 Pearl River College Wildcats, even with a 5-5 season, will have 40 listings in the revised Wildcat Record Book.

Behind the running of Michael Toefield, the Wildcats rushed for 3,426 yards for the seventh best season total ever.

In a season-ending 70-22 romp of the Coahoma Tigers, the Wildcats amassed 416 yards (third best) rushing and 568 yards (fifth best) in total offense.

In that game Toefield rushed for 264 yards (an all-time record), to push his season total to 1,307 yards, another all-time Wildcat record.

Toefield's 96-yard run in the Coahoma game is also a school record.

Toefield rushed for more than 133 yards on six straight Saturdays to finish out the '89 season. He will be back this year.

The 1989 Wildcats will also be listed in third place for first downs (181) in a season; four listings for passes attempted in a game; longest field goal (43 yards) ever; most rushing attempts by an individual (Toefield) 219; four touchdowns in a game (Toefield); second most points in a half (48); and third most points (70) in a game.

The Wildcat Record Book dates back to 1921.

The 1990 Wildcats have a very experience offensive backfield returning. Starting at quarterback is Mel Hackbarth (6-2 190). Toefield (5-11 220) is at running back and Bourbon Womack (5-10 215) is the returning fullback.

Sophomore speedsters Reggie Austin (5-11 175) is at wide-receiver and Cedrick Anderson (5-10 185) is at wingback.

On defense Andrea Averett, Floy's Cagine, Chris Lumpkin, Lance Taylor, Bryant Fairley, Wallace Clark and Roy Wayne Jones are also returning starters.

Three years ago, Jones (5-10 235) made all-state and all-region as a linebacker. After his freshman year he joined the Army, but he returned to the squad this past spring.

Nelson said he has several All-American players joining his sophomores, including the top two players from Louisiana and Florida.

granted to the Grantor by that certain right of way easement from Clayton J. Hoday, et al dated September 20, 1966, as described in Deed Book BB-10, pages 184-186 and recorded in Deed Book BB-10, over and across the above described land, to-wit:

John B. Ladner Claim No. 13, Township 8 South, Range 14 West begin the same land portioned by the State of Georgia pursuant to the Act approved October 9, 1907 and recorded in Deeds A-B, page 2 of Deed Records of Hancock County, Mississippi and to the North half of Lot E, Section 3 Township 8 South, Range 14 West.

Said right of way easement is granted to the terms and conditions of the right of way easement granted from Clayton J. Goo, III, et al to Clayton J. Hoday, et al dated August 12, 1966, as described in Deed Book BB-9, page 288-290 in the Chancery Clerk's office of Hancock County, Mississippi, particularly those provisions which require that said right of way easement be conveyed to Walter J. Cox, III, et al, in order to reflect the afore-said right of way easement to be used for the purpose of providing another road for similar ingress and egress.

The undersigned Substituted Trustee will convey said title as it vests in him by virtue of the above recited deed.

Civitan camp

Special people helping special children

BY LIZ HAAS

Fourteen children from the Gulf Coast attended the Civitan Camp for Citizens with Mental Retardation at Girl Scout Camp Iti Kana in Wiggins from July 23 to 27.

The camp involves two sessions, one for children 17-years-old and under and another for adults over the age of 18. The adult session is continuing this week until Saturday, August 4.

The children's session offers a counselor for every camper. This year 172 children and counselors attended.

The camp staff is composed of professional adults, while the counselors are high school and college students who work with the children in small groups under direct supervision.

Two nurses are on staff at the camp and a doctor comes to the camp every night to check on the children.

The campers enjoy recreation and nightly entertainment. Swimming, leisure time activities, canoeing, fishing, baseball, volleyball, tumbling, group games, music, horseback riding, arts and crafts and hiking are some of the activities, provided at the camp, both morning and afternoon.

The counselors move through the different activities with the children.

"The children enjoy the activities up to their limitations. We do a lot of transportation of wheel chairs and other things to ensure that each child can partake in every activity," said Abbie Rogers, camp director and founder.

"The children love music. It's like they say—music is good for the soul. We use a lot of music to set the tempo of the mood we want the children to be in," said Rogers.

"Some of the children understand their problems and know they are different, but we need to be able to teach them to preserve the dignity of the word mentally retarded," said Rogers.

Rogers started the camp 29 years ago. State money was granted through the University of Southern Mississippi to begin a pilot program to do something for the mentally retarded at a time when nothing was being done. The University persuaded her to head the program. At the time, she was in charge of the new special education school at Southern.

The camp was held at Camp Tiak, a Boy Scout camp, for the first 15 years. The Girl Scouts built their own camp and the Civitan Camp for Citizens with Mental Retardation began using it.

The assistant directors are Becky Wilson, who received her doctorate in special education, and Terri Shuck who has a master's in special education. Both work at the University of Southern Mississippi.

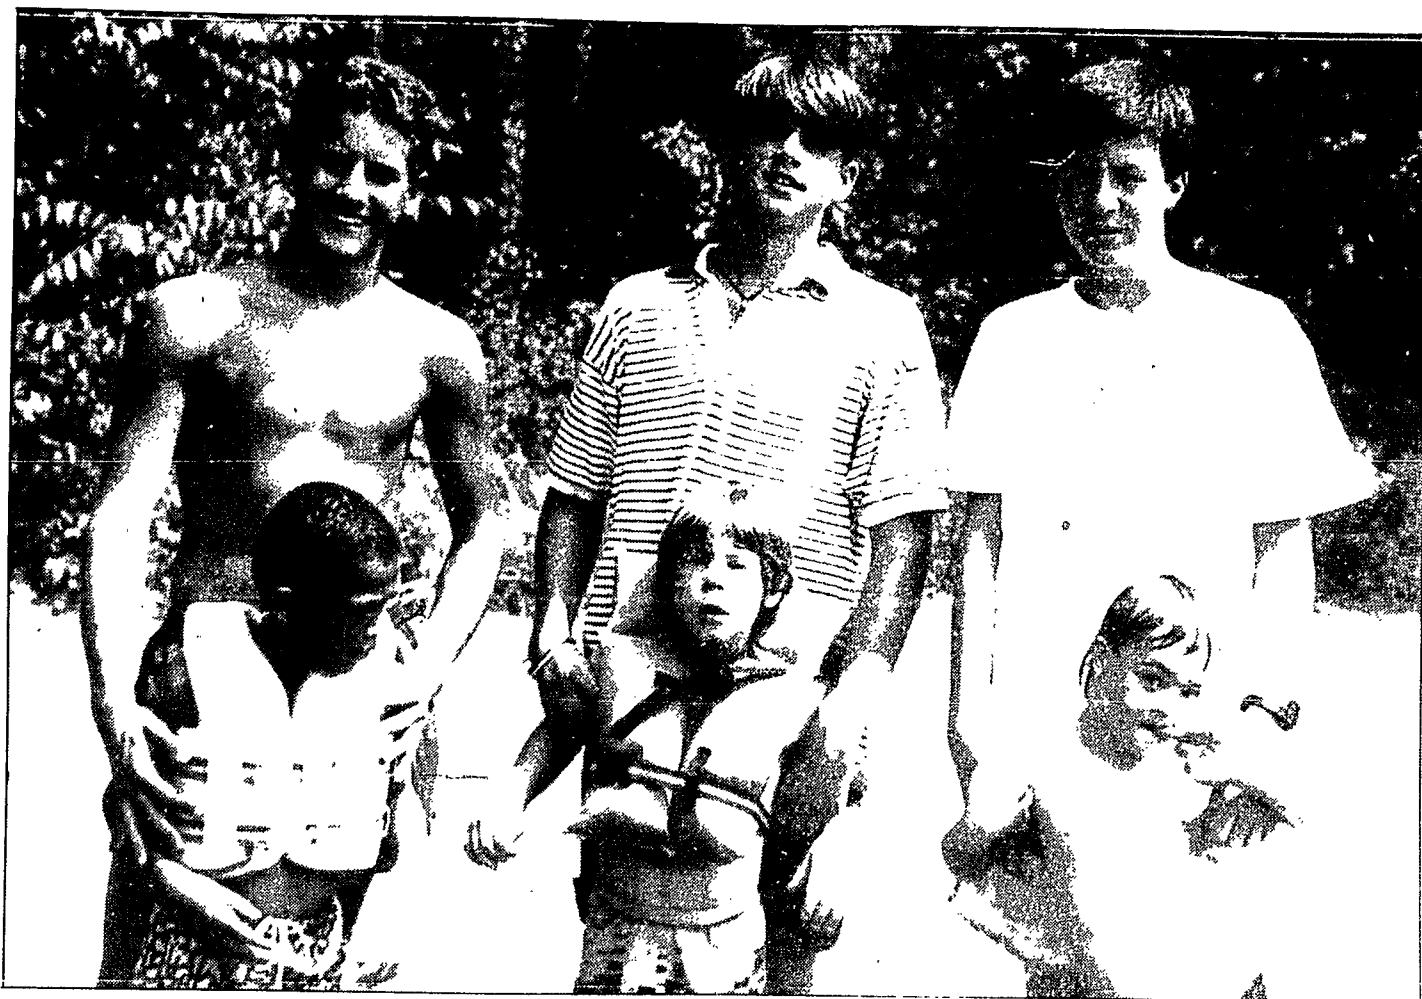

The camp is funded by solicitations made by the Civitan Club through letters sent out to individuals, organizations, clubs and churches.

"Last year it cost $21,000 for both weeks of camp," said Rogers.

The base cost for each child is $170, but the camp only charges $85 per camper. More than half of the campers are there on scholarship, offered for the economically disadvantaged.

Abbie's nephew, Charles "Chuck" Breath III, branch manager of Hancock Bank at Stennis Space Center, works with her to obtain monetary support and donations from the Coast.

Last year, Breath, a Bay St. Louis native, filmed the children at the camp in the different activities and with help from the Stennis Space Center, Hancock Bank and NASA, he was able to compose a video for the camp.

Breath plans to present copies of the tape to different civic organizations, special education teachers and individuals on the Coast to show them what is being done in order to gain support from them.

For more information or to receive a copy of the tape, contact Chuck Breath at work, 467-9066, or at home, 467-9640.

Breath said, "The camp is extremely helpful because it gives these children a chance to be amongst their peers."

He added, "The mentally retarded children are very affectionate children. They thrive on attention and love, and that's what they get at the camp. Abbie and her staff are extraordinary, special people."

Singing "Stevie Wonder had a farn" in the camp's music room are camper Kellie O'Keefe of Biloxi and her counselor Wendy Obstler of Hattiesburg.

Camp founder Abbie Rogers talks with Chuck Breath of Bay St. Louis.

At the capitol

Enrichment program emphasizes job skills

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A new program developed by both Favre of the Bay St. Louis School System allowed 15 students to experience a variety of educational and cultural activities this summer.

"Remediation through Enrichment and Lifeskills Activities" was funded through the Gulf Coast Business Services, the local Job Training Partnership Act service agency.

JTPA offers employment to eligible youth, ages 14-21, who meet the program's criteria. Employability skills are taught to prepare the students to enter the work force, according to Mary Lee McNeil, Gulf Coast Business Services supervisor.

The Bay St. Louis group was comprised of 14-15-year-olds recommended by the school.

Several field trips to restaurants, a play, museum and art gallery afforded them the opportunity to fine-tune social skills, while classroom activities reinforced a traditional learning environment.

The two full-time instructors were Bay St. Louis teachers Ellie Perniciaro and Favre. Guest instructors included Kathy Edwards, Wendy Rupp, Joan Thomas, Elaine Barnes, Jaida Evans, Darlene Underwood and Nell Crain.

The class met from June 11-July 12, culminating in a reception in which students prepared and served refreshments to their guests.

Field trips included visits to the French Quarter in New Orleans with lunch at Arnaud's; to the State Legislature where they were greeted by Sen. Vic Frankiewicz and Rep. J. P. Compretta; to the Mississippi Museum of Art in Biloxi and Williams Art Gallery; and to Tulane University to view a musical production.

The students earned a stipend for 120 hours of participation in the program, and were eligible for a bonus if points accumulated totaled more than 94%. All but two students earned the bonus, according to Favre, who considered the project to be quite successful.

Father/son alumni

Hancock valedictorian named Taylor Scholar

Staci Simone Warren, Hancock North Central 1990 valedictorian, has been offered more than $240,000 in scholarship/award offers from various universities. She is the daughter of Lavira and Joe Warren of Diamondhead.

Miss Warren has accepted the prestigious Patrick F. Taylor Scholarship which is administered by the honors program at the University of New Orleans.

The Taylor Scholarship is made possible in part by the generosity of Patrick F. Taylor, CEO, Taylor Energy Company, the 10th largest independent oil and gas company in America.

The scholarship is valued at $50,000 and includes free tuition for four years and two summers, room and meals, book allowance, use of a personal computer and printer, $2,000 per year stipend, and a summer study program at UNO Innsbruck, Austria. Students designated as National Achievement/Merit Finalists are eligible for this scholarship.

Scholarships offered from other universities include $37,000 from Bethel College, $28,500 from Millsaps College, $22,000 from Dillard University, $20,800 from Centenary College, $20,000 from Oral Roberts

University, $16,000 from Jackson State University, $12,000 from William Carey College, and approximately $30,000 from Southern Mississippi, Mississippi State and Ole Miss.

Miss Warren has also gained admission to Yale, Washington, Emory and Northwestern universities.

With generous scholarship awards of $2,000 from the National Merit Corporation, $1,000 from Emily de Montluzin Foreign Languages, $1,000 from Albert J. Fairconnetue (NAACP), she will be able to pursue a more extensive study of foreign languages in native countries through various university programs while pursuing a degree in engineering/law.

Sandoz named to Who's Who

Susan M. Sandoz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sandoz of Bay St. Louis, was recently nominated to have her biography published in the 24th annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students for the academic year 1989-1990, an honor reserved for only 5 percent of the nation's high school students each year.

The major objective of Who's Who is to recognize the achievements of the nation's outstanding students who have contributed to their schools and communities.

Nominations for the award are received from over 14,500 high school faculty members, scholarship agencies, youth club administrators and similarly qualified educators and advisors.

Susan, an entering senior, is qualified to apply for a $1,000 scholarship from the $65,000 to be awarded this year.

Other services offered include: the college referral service to inform colleges of the award, publicity in local newspapers and national recognition through distribution of the book to 12,000 colleges, libraries, high schools and youth groups.

Publication of the book will be completed in late fall.

Hancock schools to register kindergarten, new first graders

Hancock County School District Students not previously registered for kindergarten and first grade for the 1990-91 school year should do so on Friday, Aug. 2.

Parents should register students between 8:30 a.m. and 2:20 p.m. at the school students will attend.

Kindergarten students must be five years old on or before Sept. 1. All students must have blue slips either from the local health department or a private physician and a certified copy of their birth certificate.

For more information concerning at which school to register, call the central office at 467-4466 or 467-5891.

Moore, Cheney represent Bay High in Lions Band

Two Bay High students were selected to join the 1990 Lions All-State Band in representing Mississippi in the 73rd annual Lions International Parade Competition July 11 in St. Louis, Mo.

The band has been international champion 16 times in its 40-year history.

The Lions Band is composed of 127 high school students from throughout the state who are selected by competitive auditions. A one-week training period was held July 1-7 at Delta State University in Cleveland. The training period concluded with a public concert on July 8.

Jim Moore, a senior, was drum line section leader, and Tommy Cheney, freshman, was fifth chair.

Williams attends CUA seminar

Andrew Williams of Bay St. Louis, a senior at St. Stanislaus High School, attended a week-long engineering program for high school students at The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

"Engineering 2000," sponsored by CUA's School of Engineering and Architecture, gives promising students a close-up look at the diverse opportunities available in the engineering field. The program responds to concerns that, as a new century approaches, the United States is not meeting the demand for engineers to fill high-tech posts.

Williams and 100 other rising seniors from high schools across the country received scholarships covering most program costs. The students spent the week attending lectures, participating in laboratory projects, talking informally with engineering professors and graduate students, and touring the nation's capital.

In the laboratories, students tested football helmets to see how well they held up under various impacts. They used computers first to design a building, then to analyze the structure to see whether it would stand. They instructed robots to perform tasks ranging from pouring water into a vase to mimicking John Travolta's dance snap in the movie "Saturday Night Fever."

Speakers included an expert on the United States' Antarctic Project, a Goddard Space Flight Center engineer and astronaut candidate, and a civil engineer whose specialty is restoring old buildings.

- 2 DAVE BARRY TURNS 40, by Dave Barry. (Crown, $16.95.) Reflections on the crises of middle age by the syndicated humorist. (B)
- 3 FATHER, SON & CO., by Thomas J. Watson Jr. and Peter Petre. (Bantam, $22.95.) The autobiography of the man who succeeded his father as head of I.B.M. (B)
- 4 MEGATRENDS 2000, by John Naisbitt and Patricia Aburdene. (Morrow, $21.95.) Prognostications about political, economic and social developments in the next decade. (B)
- 5 BARBARIANS AT THE GATE, by Bryan Burrough and John Helyar. (Harper & Row, $22.95.) The 1988 battle for control of RJR Nabisco. (B)
- 6 DON'T SHOOT, IT'S ONLY ME, by Bob Hope with Melville Shavelson. (Putnam, $19.95.) The comedian reminisces about his career. (BW)
- 7 CAPTAIN SIR RICHARD FRANCIS BURTON by Edward Rice. (Scribners, $35.) The strange and remarkable career of the 19th-century British explorer. (B)
- 8 IT WAS ON FIRE WHEN I LAY DOWN ON IT, by Robert Fulghum. (Villard, $17.95.) A new collection of inspirational essays. (BW)
- 9 BEHIND THE MASK, by Dave Pallone with Alan Steinberg. (Viking, $18.95.) The memoirs of the controversial former National League umpire. (B)
- 10 LIAR'S POKER, by Michael Lewis. (Norton, $19.95.) Wall Street's tumultuous 1980's, as witnessed by a young bond trader. (B)

Southern Company announces dividend

Directors of The Southern Company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 53 cents a share on the company's common stock, payable Sept. 6, 1990, to stockholders of record Aug. 6.

This marks the 171st consecutive quarter—dating back to 1948—that The Southern Company will have paid a dividend to its common stockholders.

The Southern Company (NYSE:SO) is the parent firm of five electric utilities: Alabama Power, Georgia Power, Gulf Power, Mississippi Power and Savannah Electric. The Southern Company's common stock is one of the 20 most widely held corporate stocks in America.

Delchamps offers incentive to 'Bring Your Own Bag'

The next time you head out for the grocery store, don't forget to bring your own bag! That's the message being delivered by Delchamps Super Markets as their new B.Y.O. BAG program is rolled out this week.

The "Bring Your Own Bag" effort is an extension of the company's newly introduced recycling program.

"Recycling is a priority at Delchamps," said Randy Delchamps, president and chief executive officer of the supermarket retailer.

"We have had very good success with the aluminum can recycling program that was introduced in March of this year. The bring your own bag program is another way Delchamps and our customers can get involved in a positive way with environmental issues."

Here's how the B.Y.O. BAG program works. Delchamps will pay a nickel for every bag a customer brings in that is used to bag groceries. "We will use any grocery bag—paper, plastic or cloth—and redeem it for five cents off the customer's total grocery bill," explains director of advertising, George Waldron.

Delchamps currently uses more than 100 million bags during the course of a year—the majority of which go from store to home to landfill. The company's goal is to see a decline in the number of new bags used once the B.Y.O. BAG program gets underway.

The key to any recycling program is to make it easy, convenient and fun. "All the information we have at our disposal would indicate that recycling may very well become a way of life in the near future," said Delchamps.

"That's why we feel a strong commitment to make the 'bring your own bag' program work as well as the aluminum can recycling program has; and the best way to do that is to make it easy and convenient for our customers."

Delchamps was the first major supermarket chain in its four-state operating area to introduce a recycling program. Each Delchamps Super Market is set up with a special recycling bin.

Customers who bring in aluminum cans for recycling will receive a competitive price per pound in the form of a Delchamps Recycling Coupon.

The coupon can then be used in one of three ways; a customer may choose to cash the coupon in; use the coupon toward purchases at Delchamps; or donate the money to a favorite charity.

According to information published by the Environmental Protection Agency, about 160 million tons of garbage are disposed of in the United States annually.

Today, most of the garbage—approximately 80 percent—goes into landfills, 10 percent is recycled and 10 percent is incinerated.

Through consumer education and accelerated recycling efforts like the ones offered at Delchamps, the EPA is targeting major changes in our waste disposal system as early as 1992. The goal is 55 percent landfill; 25 percent recycling; and 20 percent incineration.

Huseonica named Stennis science, technology lab director

Dr. William F. Huseonica has been named director of the Science and Technology Laboratory at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center effective July 22.

A former NASA employee of 27 years, Huseonica was manager of ground operations for the STS Operations Division at NASA headquarters and held several key positions at both Kennedy Space Center in Florida and NASA's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Science and Technology Laboratory is the Stennis Center's primary research and development organization. Established in 1970, the laboratory develops new technology for observing the Earth and its resources.

As laboratory director, Dr. Huseonica will develop and manage the overall laboratory program and be responsible for planning and directing its research and development functions, directing original research and scientific investigations, supporting the propulsion development and test program, as well as identifying all resources pursuant to laboratory operations.

MultiVision offers local phone service, senior discounts

MultiVision Cable TV now offers local phone service for cable customers located in Bay St. Louis, Jourdan River

Shores, Pearlinton and Waveland.

"We felt that making local phone service available to all of our customers in Hancock County would be a worthwhile addition to the service already provided by our two local technicians and one customer service representative," stated Mary Manley-Bryant, community relations manager for the Hancock County systems.

The new local telephone number for all of MultiVision Cable TV's Hancock County customers is 467-7801.

Also available is a senior citizen/low income/100% disabled group discount program for qualified customers in Bay St. Louis, effective Sept. 3.

Under the group discount program, qualified cable television customers whose gross family income is less than $10,000 per year and are either 65 years or older or 100 percent disabled, will receive a $1.80 per month reduction in the basic rate for cable television service.

The reduction amounts to 10 percent off the basic cable television service rate. The new discount rate is $16.15 a month.

All that will be necessary for qualified cable television customers to receive the group discount, is for them to complete a simple application form and attach proof that they are qualified for the group discount.

The application forms may be picked up at the Multi-Vision Cable TV office located at 905 St. Joseph Street in Waveland.
